AHS Newscast

By Jane Holt

Appomattox, Virginia
March 15, 1955.

Dear June,

I guess you who are former A. H. S. students will be seeing some of our present students up at Madison this week-end. These people are going to attend the State S. C. A. convention March 18th and 19th. We are hoping that they will obtain many ideas which will be profitable to our school.

Today the Dixie Music Club held its regular meeting. In honor of St. Patrick's day, the program consisted of music celebrating the occasion. Shirley Blanks sang "Danny Boy;" Teddy Mitchell sang "The Last Rose of Summer," and Mrs. W. M. Morris, our sponsor, sang "The Rose of Tralee," all of these being Irish songs. Miss Harriett Holley, our sponsor, also gave a brief background of Ireland's history and music. By having such programs, it enhances our knowledge of the music of other countries.

You remember my telling you of Eloise Couch's victory at the District Oratorical contest last week, don't you? I am very pleased to be able to write this week that Eloise was the victor at the Zone contest in Hampton last Friday. She now goes to Lexington to compete in the State contest March 22nd. Being our first A. H. S. student to do so well, we are all very proud of her. Best of luck at the State contest, Eloise.

Monday afternoon our boys started baseball practice for this season. There was a good turn-out, but due to rain they have been unable to practice any more. As of yet, the team has not been chosen. We wish the A. H. S. baseball team of '55 as much success as our football and basketball teams were able to achieve.

Today many of us seniors tried out for parts in our senior play, "No Place Like Home." However, the cast has not yet been chosen. I'll let you know about that next week. I'm sure the students who make up our cast will do a grand job for our class of '55.

The speech class is still working diligently on their four one-act plays which they are to present on March 24th. This is part of our regular class work, and we hope to make a fine presentation.

I think this concludes the local happenings around A. H. S. for now. Be looking for more news from me next week.

'Til then,
Jane.

Sunday dinner guests of Mrs. E. B. Martin were Mrs. M. A. Hunter, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Drinkard and family; Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Smith and family, and Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Moses, Jr. and family.

Mrs. Louis McCormick, who has been a patient in Virginia Baptist Hospital, is at home and getting on nicely.

Measles is the style around here. Quite a few of the children are out of school with it. Warren Drinkard, "Pete" McCormick and Bonnie Moore are at home now. Charles Wilkerson has returned to school after getting over measles.

ALFALFA WEEVIL PRESENT IN STATE

Farmers and professional agricultural workers are being asked to be on the lookout for the alfalfa weevil—a relatively new pest in Virginia.

Dr. J. O. Rowell, entomologist at VPI, says the weevil was first found in Loudoun in June, 1952. Its present known distribtuion is still somewhat limited to a small area in northern and northeastern Virginia. However, the weevil is showing up in additional counties each year.

At the present time the following counties are known to be infested: Loudoun, Fairfax, Prince William, Stafford, King George, Westmoreland, Rockingham, Fluvanna, and Albemarle.

Subscription rate: $2.00 a year payable in advance.

PULPWOOD, AN IMPORTANT CROP

Pulpwood is an important crop, and one that can be produced on nearly every farm in Virginia. In 1953, over 1,265,000 cords of pulpwood were produced in the state. Estimates for the 1954 production may exceed this, says F. W. Patton, VPI forester.

In cutting pulpwood, the same as any other forest product, provisions for assuring another wood crop from the cut over area should be taken, Patton points out. In many areas where the trees are 25 to 30 years old, 8 to 15 good seed trees may get another crop started.

In other areas landowners may have to kill scrub hardwood trees, and spot plant pine to establish a desirable stand of trees on the area cut. Regardless of the method of cutting used, Patton urges landowners to try and keep the woods producing. Pulpwood, lumber, veneer and other forest products will be needed in increased amounts to supply an ever increasing population.

To point out the need for more trees, Patton says that an average 20 year old pine tree will produce about 500 pounds of wood. This will produce about 120 pounds of tough kraft paper, which in turn will produce about 220 multi wall fertilizer bags; or 500 — 15 pound potato bags; or 3,000 — 5 pound sugar bags; or 3600 — 12 pound grocery bags. Of course kraft pulp goes into the manufacture of many other products such as cardboard boxes, crates, food containers, etc., where sawed lumber was once used. The use of the paper makes better use of the wood from the tree in many cases, Patton says. Landowners wishing to cut wood are urged to take advantage of techinal forestry advice made available by the VPI Extension Service through the county agents office, the Virginia Forest Service, or foresters employed by the pulpwood companies.

NEWS FOR VETERANS

Veterans figuring their Federal income taxes need not count any payments they have received for Veterans Administration benefits, since these payments are tax-free, the VA and the Bureau of Internal Revenue said.

Dividends which veterans receive on their GI insurance policies also are exempt from taxation and need not be reported as income.

Among the tax-free VA payments are the following:

Education and training allowances for post-Korea veterans enrolled in schools and training establishments under the Korean GI Bill.

Subsistence payments made to disabled World War II and Korea veterans training under Public Law 16, the Vocational Rehabilitation Act.

Subsistence allowances paid to World War II veterans training under the original World War II GI Bill.

Disability compensation and pensions received by veterans because of service-connected and non-service connected disabilities.

Grants to seriously disabled veterans for homes designed for "wheelchair living."

Grants for motor vehicles to veterans who lost their sight or lost the use of their limbs.

World War I emergency officers' retirement pay.

Death benefits to families of deceased veterans also are exempt from taxation. These include compensation, pension and all GI insurance payments.

Subscription rate: $2.00 a year payable in advance.

FARM SHOP SAFETY

"You acn be an accident victim right in your own farm shop," warn VPI Extension Specialists. Now, while spring is still around the corner, is a good time to make an inspection of shop facilities and put things in order.

Give the shop a good housecleaning; clean the work benches and floors, and provide a scrap box for metals and other materials. Put hand tools in neat order; assign a place for every tool.

Clean and check machines and power tools for repair needs and safety precautions. Inspect shop for fire hazards; check all wiring for wear and possible "shorts." Install a fire extinguisher and other fire suppression aids.

Provide good lighting and adequate ventillation in the shop. Finally, give yourself a safety quiz on shop work habits and change them if they are unsafe.

Carver-Price School News

Hello Readers! Last Friday night a large group of spectators were out to see the last basketball game for the girls' and womens' teams. Campbell County High School was the worthy opponent. The girls' game was a 16 - 16 tie. The Carver Women's Team won by a score of 23 - 21. Miss H. Robinson led the Carver team in points. There was much enthusiasm in both games, and the season closed with much satisfaction in a season well spent.

The N. F. A. Basketball Tournament will be held here on Thursday night, March 17, at 7:00 o'clock. This is the Western District Tournament held between Albemarle, Bedford, Buckingham, Campbell, and Appomattox Counties. There will be four good games.

Mr. James H. Clay, who has been out ill is back with us again, we are happy to report.

Ella J. Chambers and Curtis Whitted leave Thursday morning for the "Job Opportunities" Conference to be held at Virginia Union University for two days. We know they will have a very interesting report upon their return.

Reports will be issued this week. We'll post you on who made the Honor Roll next week.

Until our next newscast, our thought:
